SUCCESS ATTENDS LUTHERAN DRIVE

Chairman Snartemo Reports
Over $300 Collected Up
To Date

Rev. J. A. Snartemo, who has charge of the Lutheran drive for war funds in this city and county, reports that over $300 has been taken in up to date. Oneida county's quota is $450. That this amount will be raised there is no question.

Rev. Snartemo has received the following congratulatory letter from J. K. Jensen, state chairman of the National Lutheran Commission for Soldiers' and Sailors' Welfare:

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 19, 1918.
Rev. J. A. Snartemo,
Rhinelander, Wis.

Dear Sir:—
Wire received. Congratulations, I am getting similar reports from every part of the state. We are going away beyond our apportionment.
Yours cordially,
J. K. JENSEN.

Rev. C. J. Silfversten, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, John Swedberg and others have been appointed to assist Rev. Snartemo in raising the amount apportioned to Rhinelander and Oneida county.

The movement is endorsed by President Wilson, Secretary Daniels, John R. Mott, secretary of the National War Work Council of Y. M. C. A., Governor Lowden, of Illinois and many senators and congressmen.

SHOULD HOLD LIBERTY BONDS

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo urges the purchasers of Liberty loan bonds of both the first and second issues to hold fast to their bonds. They are the best investment in the world.

The secretary's statement was called forth by the fact that Liberty bond holders are being approached from time to time by agents seeking to induce them to part with their Liberty loan bonds and take in exchange securities which, in a number of cases, are of a very questionable value, and was prompted by the desire to protect the bondholders against ill-advised disposition of their bonds.

The secretary expresses the hope that every purchaser of a Liberty bond will realize that the only genuine help that he gives his government is keeping his bond as an investment so long as it is possible for him to do so. He states, however, that no just objection lies to the sale of a Liberty bond when real necessity exists for its sale.

If you don't dance don't stay away from the opening. Go and inspect the building and the fine display of new Ford cars.

RESTS IN SCOTLAND

Last Friday's Milwaukee Sentinel contained on the front page a picture of Corporal Claire Metznerbauer of Chippewa Falls, who was one of the heroes to lose their lives in the sinking of the Tuscania. Corporal Metznerbauer was a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Howe of this city. In Chippewa Falls he was very popular and his death has cast gloom over that city. His body was recovered and is buried in Scotland.

ALL AMERICANS' CAN SERVE

Every man, woman and child in this country, who wants to serve the country, can serve it and serve it in a very simple and effective way, Secretary McAdoo says. That service is to lend your money to the Government. Every 25 cents loaned to the Government is a help at this time and practically every man, woman, and child by making some trifling sacrifice, can render the Government that support.

Every 25 cents will do something to help a wounded American soldier, wounded fighting for the American people and American liberty. Every cent loaned the Government contributes something for the safety and strength and success of our soldiers, equipping them, maintaining them, clothing them, feeding them, and giving them artillery and ammunition and all things needed for their efficiency and triumph.

"BUILD YOUR OWN HOME" CAMPAIGN IS ON HERE

An "Own Your Home" campaign has been inaugurated in this city by the Rhinelander Advancement association. C. P. Crosby is chairman of the movement. At a recent meeting of the association A. E. Weesner, W. D. Brown and T. C. Wood were named members of a finance committee which will offer prizes to school children for the best composition on the subject "Why I Should Own My Own Home."

The object of the campaign is to interest people in the proposition of buying or building their own homes. It is learned from the recent postoffice survey here that there are two hundred houses in Rhinelander each occupied by two or more families. The "Own Your

AN OLD CITIZEN TAKEN BY DEATH

The many friends of Daniel O'Neil, an old resident of Rhinelander, were grieved to learn of his death in St. Mary's hospital Sunday afternoon. Heart trouble is believed to have been his affliction.

Mr. O'Neil had made this city his home for many years and was held in high esteem by a large circle of friends. He was sixty-two years of age. During most of his long residence here he was stable manager for the Brown Brothers Lumber company.

Mr. O'Neil leaves to mourn him three daughters, Miss Florence of this city, Miss Mae of St. Paul and Miss Dorothy who resides in North Dakota.

FITZGERALD SAYS CUT MUCH WOOD

Wood Should Be Cut Now To Supplement Next Year's Scant Coal Supply

County Fuel Administrator A. J. O'Melia has received the following communication from W. Fitzgerald, the state fuel administrator: "Coal is scarce and getting scarcer. Wisconsin this year has suffered but little for the lack of coal but we know of the intense suffering that has occurred in other sections of the country by reason of lack of fuel. Wisconsin has been furnished this year with a good supply of coal. When the distribution is made of the coal output for the year 1918 we cannot tell now what Wisconsin's share will be. Next year we may be suffering in common with other sections of the country. Now to safeguard our people and prevent any possible suffering next year for lack of fuel let us get busy today, and tomorrow and begin the campaign of cutting fuel wood with which our state is so abundantly supplied. Now I wish you would, within the next day or two—at the earliest practicable date—call into conference, besides your advisory committee representatives of the Council of Defense, and all kindred war organizations, Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the County Agricultural Agent, the Conservation Commission warden or ranger, and the Knights of Columbus, and map out a plan of immediate action for the cutting of a liberal supply of fuel wood by the men of your county. The time to cut wood is right now. It must all be cut before April 1st. The time to season it is next summer. The time to burn it is next winter. If you have a good supply of wood next winter you may rest very comfortably even though the supply of coal is curtailed. The government may need all coal for its own use, that is, to bunker the ships to carry our boys across the water, and for other ramifications of the war—cantinements, war industries, etc. There is no excuse in people shivering for lack of fuel in regions where there is an abundance of wood. So get busy on this proposition. We want to drive home as hard as we can the necessity of getting quick action on this fuel wood cutting proposition."

• PERUNA in Your Home

A housewife must give the first aid in colds, coughs and other ailments. Her promptness in applying the remedy often saves a serious illness. Her experience with remedies has led her to know that PERUNA is always reliable, that she should have it on hand for the immediate treatment of coughs and colds, and that it is always to her

Mrs. George Parker, 411 W. 1st St., Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "We have used Peruna in our family for a number of years, and have found it perfectly reliable. It cures the system of any kind of cold, and prevents serious complications. I began using it for a cold, which I suffered with a good many years ago. Since I have taken Peruna the colds, coughs, and throat have disappeared, and my head and nose are not so clogged up. I am pleased with the results, and will continue to use it until I am entirely rid of catarrh. I heartily recommend it as an excellent medicine. What it does for her it can do for you."

The Family Safeguard

The experience of one woman, given herewith, is typical of thousands of letters that reach the Peruna Company from grateful friends who have found their homes incomplete, and their family safety in danger without PERUNA.

Colds and Catarrh

The great weight of testimony that has accumulated in the 41 years that PERUNA has been on the market proves it, beyond question, to be the reliable family remedy, ever ready to take, preventing the serious effects of colds, coughs, grip and derangements of the digestive organs. This proof is published from time to time and many families have profited by it.

LICENSE STOCK FOOD DEALERS

All manufacturers of and dealers in commercial feeds for live stock, cattle and hogs must be licensed by the United States Food Administration. Failure to secure a license may be punished by a fine not to exceed $5,000, or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or both. The purpose of the licenses is to prevent hoarding of concentrated and mixed feeding stuffs by speculators.

The Food Administration hopes to stabilize the price of dairy and stock feeds. Without the license requirements it was powerless to prevent many evils which tended to encourage increased prices, especially near the large centers of population, where dairymen depend almost entirely upon concentrated feeds for milk production.

It was upon the advice of the leading men in the trade that the Food Administration asked for the authority granted by the President's proclamation, under power given him by the food-control act of Congress. Representatives of the feeding stuff industry recently met in Washington and passed resolutions asking the Food Administration to place all straight and mixed feeding stuffs under license, protecting the fair and honest dealers against the operations of a few unscrupulous manipulators. They appointed a war service committee of 40 men from various states to assist the Food Administration in dealing with the situation.

BADGER POTATOES FOR BADGER TABLES

Potato Dishes Save Wheat, Meat, Money

The Wisconsin potato today is plentiful, cheap, and one of the best substitutes for the food staples which must be saved for the Allies, the army, and the navy.

Having produced a potato crop last year of more than 31,000,000 bushels, Wisconsin is in position to conserve other foodstuffs now more badly needed by the nation.

The food administration declares that as a war measure it is necessary now for everybody to eat potatoes, and also to purchase them in fairly regular quantities week by week so that for the next five or six months the distribution will be more nearly equal. This will relieve railroad congestion and enable the growers and distributors to handle potatoes at the most reasonable prices and to furnish encouragement for the production of a larger crop in 1918.

Served three times a day, the potato will liberate wheat flour which, because it can be shipped easily, is the best food to send to our men at the front. At the present prices of potatoes and bread, potatoes will reduce the cost of the daily food because, when they are used liberally, less bread, green-leaved vegetables, and fruit need to be purchased to provide heat the necessary mineral matter and vitamins in the diet.

For your "More-Potato Day" the home economics department of the University of Wisconsin, suggests these recipes, taken from a recent circular, "Other Ways to Cook Potatoes," which will be sent you for the asking.

Omelet—1 cup mashed potato, 1 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, 3 tablespoons cream or milk. Wash eggs and separate the whites and yolks. Add the yolks to the potato and beat until there are no lumps. Season with onion juice, if desired, and add chopped parsley. Beat the whites until stiff and fold into the potato mixture. Put into a well-oiled frying pan and bake in the oven until brown. Turn and fold on hot platter. Serve at once.

Meat-saving Dishes for Lunch or Supper: Cream of Potato Soup—1 quart milk, 1½ cups cold mashed potato or 3 medium potatoes boiled in their skins, peeled and mashed, 2 tablespoons fat, 1½ tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon chopped onion or onion sprouts, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley (may be omitted), 1¼ teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon white pepper, ½ bay leaf (may be omitted). Heat the milk in a double boiler with onion and bay leaf. These should be removed before the milk is used. Melt the fat, add the flour, mix until smooth; add the milk, return to the double boiler and cook, while stirring, until the mixture is smooth. Add the salt, pepper and mashed potato, beating until smooth. Heat thoroughly, and sprinkle in the chopped parsley just before serving.

Wheat-saving Dishes for Dinner: Potato Muffins—4 tablespoons fat, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 egg, 1 cup mashed potato, 2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk. Cream the fat and sugar. Add the egg well beaten, then the potato. Mix thoroughly. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add milk and flour alternately. Bake in greased muffin tins 25 to 30 minutes.

Wisconsin Potato Bread—2 cups boiled and riced potatoes (packed solidly), 2 cups sifted flour (approximately), 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon corn oil, 2 teaspoons sugar, ¼ cake compressed yeast or ¼ cake dry yeast, 1 tablespoon warm water. Boil and drain the potatoes. Put them through a vegetable ricer or sieve. Soak or soften the yeast in water. Mix the yeast with the potato salt, oil and sugar. Add ½ cup flour allow the sponge to rise. (When dry yeast is used the sponge should rise over night.) Work flour into the light sponge until a stiff dough is formed. It may take a little more or little less than 3 cups. Let the dough rise until it doubles its bulk; knead the second time, form into a loaf and let it rise. When light bake in a moderate oven 3-4 of an hour.

DON'T TELL SOLDIERS' SECRETS

Agents of the department of justice have revealed the fact that important military information has been obtained by German spies in America, women as well as men, from relatives of soldiers.

This advice, then, to every mother, wife, daughter or sweetheart of an American sailor or soldier in France or the United States: Don't tell any secrets that the boys write or tell you. Fond relatives are given to telling friends that their soldier boys have just broken camp or are about to sail for Europe, or have just arrived in France. Such information may be invaluable to German spies. It not only lets them know when the men are leaving. It tells also what companies and regiments are going and gives the enemy definite information as to the number of troops sailing or already landed in France. And one never knows when one is giving information that, either directly or by relay, may get to the enemy.

The very lives of our boys are at stake, and it behooves each one of us to guard closely every particle of information imparted to us that would be useful to the enemy.

HOW TO QUIT SERVICE

Applications for discharge from the army on account of dependent relatives may be made to the commanding generals of the camps where the soldiers seeking discharge are stationed. Such generals have power to grant them. No requests may be made for discharge on that ground after a soldier has gone abroad.

The adjutant general lays down these two important rules relating to such discharges:

"The application must be submitted by the soldier himself and no soldier will be discharged until his case shall have been thoroughly investigated and evidence produced to show that actual suffering exists or will result by reason of his retention in the service.

"In view of the liberal provisions of the war risk insurance act, it is believed that necessity for discharge on account of dependent relatives will rarely occur."

The man who shouts patriotism for the purpose of furthering his own selfish business or political interests is only fooling himself and not the people, as he supposes. A real patriot doesn't have to advertise himself with a brass band.

In a recent speech Gov. Philipp suggested that Senator LaFollette resign and then ask the people for re-election. We would suggest that the governor set the example, so that the people of Wisconsin could, by their votes, demonstrate to the governor that they are greater than their servant and that what they have bestowed they can also take away. — Weyauwega Chronicle. (Dem.)

COMPLETE ONE-MAN POWER.

The so-called Overman bill, which has been introduced in the Senate at the direct initiative of the President, if it is enacted in its present form, will give the President absolute authority over all the departments of the government. He will be empowered to make any redistribution of functions which he may deem wise among the executive agencies of the government; to co-ordinate or consolidate any executive commissions, bureaus, offices or agencies; to transfer from one bureau or department to another any powers, duties or personnel; to put into the direction of any other agency any money which may be appropriated for any department or bureau; and to suspend all restrictions in any existing law creating any department, commission or bureau. With this law in force, there would be no need of any further legislation to secure concentration of executive activities. — New England Journal of Education.

THE "APPEARANCE OF EVIL."

The wisdom of the ancient admonition to "avoid the appearance of evil" is emphasized anew by the disclosure of the contract entered into last July by H. D. Baker of Cleveland, brother of Secretary of War Baker, for the making of airplanes. According to Col. T. E. of the United States signal corps, Mr. Baker's overtures for a contract were rejected last June because he had no company for making airplanes. Thereupon Mr. Baker speedily organized the Engel Aircraft Company, with a capital of $3,000,000, of which Mr. Baker himself took $1,000,000. Last October, out of the $3,000,000 of stock, only $38,510 had been paid in; and, on October 31, six days after the contract got its first airplane contract from the government, its books showed a cash balance in bank of $13,779.94, and cash on hand $500. At about this time, or at least before the delivery of any of the three contracts given the firm by the equipment division of the Signal Corps, Secretary Baker began to realize, as he himself expressed it, that the situation had inevitably embarrassed him in it; and the secretary's brother, as the secretary said, "generously resigned from the company." Meanwhile, the company has its contracts.

Congressman Leland announces that he has received nothing from Governor Philipp regarding his appointment to the U. S. Senate, but the governor's followers are giving out the bit that Congressman Leland will be appointed. The thing is a bit different to the governor now and after he was given this power by the legislature. While Congressman Leland would be acceptable to us, we are opposed to any step to violate the laws of the state by Governor Philipp.

With his back to the wall, Gov. Philipp is fighting his hardest to save his political existence, and we hope he will fail. There is nothing about the governor that he should be deputed to do our voting. His statement that it will save the state money would apply to every election but we are not willing to abolish elections on this ground. We are thoroughly convinced, if our legislators comply with the wishes of their constituents at home they will vote against giving away the voters' power at home to Governor Philipp.

Thirteen county boards of the state have already signified their disapproval of this appointment by the governor.

A NEW WATERWAY

Hope of a very considerable relief to railway congestion within a short time is afforded by the announcement that, within three months, the Barge Canal, which extends from New York City to Buffalo on Lake Erie, to Whitehall and Burlington on Lake Champlain, and to Oswego on Lake Ontario, will be open. The canal has been in process of construction for fourteen years and has cost $151,000,000. Enthusiasm over the new waterway is somewhat dampened by the fact that it seems not to have occurred to any one that next in importance to having a new canal was the having of barges to traverse it to make full use of the canal. There should be from 300 to 500 vessels of from 600 to 2,500 tons each, but only a fraction of this number are in sight. According to American Industries, we have 500 miles of canal built to accommodate barges of 2,500 tons capacity, but no barges of this or any other capacity have been provided. There are some old barges that can be put in commission, and a number of small vessels under their own motive power, but these seem to be about all.

THE "TEN DEMANDMENTS"

Up in Canada there is a successful business concern that expects as most successful concerns do, that every employee shall do his full duty, says the Houston Post. To assist him in the task that concern places conspicuously before him these "Ten Demandments."

1. Don't lie. It wastes my time and yours. I am sure to catch you in the end, and that is the wrong end.
2. Watch your work, not the clock. A long day's work makes a long day short; and a short day's work makes my face long.
3. Give me more than I expect, and I will give you more than you expect. I can afford to increase your pay if you increase my profits.
4. You owe so much to yourself you cannot afford to owe anybody else. Keep out of debt, or keep out of my shop.
5. Dishonesty is never an accident. Good men, like good women, never see temptation when they meet it.
6. Mind your own business, and in time you'll have a business of your own to mind.
7. Don't do anything here which hurts your self-respect. An employee who is willing to steal for me is willing to steal from me.
8. It is none of my business what you do at night. But if dissipation affects what you do the next day, and you do half as much as I demand, you'll last half as long as you hoped.
9. Don't tell me what I'd like to hear, but what I ought to hear. I don't want a valet to my vanity, but one for my dollars.
10. Don't kick if I kick. If you're worth while correcting, you're worth while keeping. I don't waste time cutting specks out of rotten apples.

PRAISE FROM PERSHING

Proof of the warm-hearted conduct of the American Red Cross with the enlisted man is furnished in numberless instances, of which the following is typical.

A farm youth enlisted from Kentucky and was sent to an Atlantic training camp of the regular army. It was the longest trip he ever had made and the first Christmas he was to be separated from the family.

He was looking forward to the box which he knew mother and sister would send to him, but three days before Christmas he was ordered to Washington to do guard duty. The young soldier was immensely proud at being assigned to guard the White House.

But his sudden change in address resulted in his Christmas box going to his original camp and Christmas day found him with neither letter nor package from home or friends. It was in this mood of depression that a Red Cross Christmas package reached him.

"I sure did appreciate that remembrance," he wrote home. In due time the army forwarded his Christmas mail from home, but it reached him from one to two weeks after the holidays. The Red Cross gift contributed to sustaining his spirits, and not only to him but thousands situated like him.

General Pershing and other high officers consider such work by the Red Cross a vital factor in winning the war. It makes all the difference in the world how a soldier feels. When a whole army becomes depressed, disaster follows.

SOMEBODY'S PAL

By ISABEL FROST.

It was not that Three Arrows was naturally suspicious, but nature had placed it so seclusively, all by itself on the shoulders of Kaska mountain, that it regarded strangers in the light of interlopers. Therefore, it kept one eye on Evelyn May from the moment she stepped from the river steamer.

Another thing that did not add to her immediate popularity was her reticence.

Slim Rogers sized her up at long distance from his point of vantage on the lean-to porch of Rafferty's shack. In Three Arrows he was accounted not only local sheriff, but also the final court of appeals on the standing of strangers. Slim had been rather idle of late. A pall of monotonous morality had fallen over the land immediately under his lawful guardianship. There had been no killings since Christmas, when Lone Duck, from Nome, had jubilantly picked off two harmless salmon trimmers from a tribe down river.

The Golden Eagle had been doing a languid business, supported only by local patronage.

It was this observation which annoyed Evelyn. She felt herself under suspicion and did not hesitate to show Slim that she was aware of his official scrutiny. She had taken up quarters at the only abiding place for transients, Mrs. Rafferty's lodging house and cafe. Mrs. Rafferty had ruled public opinion in Three Arrows for many moons.

"It's a long way for a girl of your age to be traveling alone," she said one morning.

"I love to travel," said Evelyn, pleasantly. "Is it very far up Kaska?" She looked from the window at the great peak that seemed to touch the morning clouds.

"There's nothing to see when you get up there," said Mrs. Rafferty. "You want to go up or down the river if you're looking for sights."

Evelyn retreated into her shell at once. From the corner of her eye she could see Slim's tall figure shadowing the doorway.

"Better put me up a lunch, Mollie," he said to Mrs. Rafferty, trying to ignore the presence at the table by the window. "We're going up Kaska again today. Benson blew in last night, and they think they've struck a new scout."

Mrs. Rafferty bustled around, carving deep slices of boiled ham as she talked. "Well, I hope to the lord, Slim Rogers, that you never come within a mile of shooting at him. If ever a man deserved what he got, it was Lone Duck. Did you hear what the fight was about? I mean the one with the kid."

Slim helped himself to a large cup of black coffee, knowing full well that he had an audience.

"They fought over an Indian girl. Lone Duck came into camp drunk and started to beat her up. Billie had been prospecting around there for several weeks, and I rather think the Duck was afraid he had heard too much from Neota. Anyway, he tried to silence him forever, and the kid got in first shot. Law's law, Mollie, you know."

No one will ever know just what took place in Evelyn's mind at that moment. She begged for the privilege of riding up with him and the rest of the posse. He told her she could ride until he asked her to turn back, and she agreed to obey orders.

Slim had only known her for four weeks, but before they had reached the timberline he had forgotten the vital importance of catching the kid, and was absolutely at the mercy of Evelyn May. He told her what life might be like if she remained in the Yukon country as the sheriff's bride.

"You'd make a wonderful pal for somebody, Mr. Rogers, but how about being a husband? We're almost strangers. You men of the North do your wooing rapidly."

"We have to," said Slim, shortly, "or they get away. It's a fearful climate up here. A woman's got to have a doggone good reason or she'd never stay in it at all."

He stopped short. There came the sound of rapid firing above them, then the crashing, sliding grind of hoofs, as a horse and rider dashed recklessly down the mountain trail. Slim whipped his pistol out and aimed as the boy shot past them, but Evelyn's hands gripped his, and she buried her teeth in the wrist that held the revolver. It was over in an instant. The kid was out of sight already, bound for safety, and Slim stood over a sobbing girl, looking at the blood trickling from his wrist. Somehow his arm found its way around her shoulder, while she told him of her mission to Three Arrows.

The kid was just her brother, nineteen years old, and the baby of the family back East. They had not heard from him in months, and she had come out alone to learn the reason.

"I'm sorry, Slim," she said, "that I hurt you. I didn't mean to. I suppose it's wrong to want him to get away when he broke the law."

Slim smiled peacefully; the head of Evelyn May leaned willingly against his shoulder.

"I guess he'd better put up a plea of self-defense and come back home," he said, "so as to be in time for the wedding." (Copyright, 1917, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

NURSES WANTED

DEPT. OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

Madison, Wis., Feb. 15, 1918.

To County and City Superintendents

The State Council of Defense is asking your cooperation with respect to an active campaign for enrolling your women for training for service as nurses. I have been requested to address a communication to you and I take pleasure in so doing.

I have no doubt most of you will know young women of suitable preparation who would be pleased to enroll for intensified training. Many young women are eager to assist in any way possible and to have the way pointed out to them would be a real service to them as well as to the country. I hope you will give prompt attention to this request.

Yours cordially,

RHINELANDER BOY HAS FRENCH SHAVE

Soldier From This City Tells Of His First Experience "Over There"

Following is a letter just received from a well known Rhinelander boy who is now in France with Pershing's forces. In compliance with the government's request the name of the writer is omitted:

In Harbor, Jan. 26, 1918.

Dear Mother:

I set foot on French soil yesterday for the time. It is a queer place we are at, very muddy and wet all the day.

Yesterday I saw Russell Didier and Wilbur Gleason with their regiment. They were going to take a train inland to their camp. The both of them are looking fine and Wilbur smiles all over the same as usual.

The queerest thing happened to me while ashore. It was a French shave. A kid about 11 years old was the barber and sole owner of the place. When he put the lather on he made sure of getting it on the right spot so he put it all over my face. Then when he was through shaving he took an atomizer full of water and sprayed my face, then he took a stone of some sort and rubbed it all over. After that treatment I handed him 50 centimes or 10 cents.

The people are very poorly dressed. Leather shoes are out of the question with the poor people. They wear wooden shoes with straw inside of them. It is just the very wealthy people who wear all leather shoes.

Jan. 27, 1918.

I got around the town pretty good for not knowing any French at all. I made motions for what I wanted and it worked out fine. For instance, I bought this paper by motioning for it.

Most of the cars here are small ones and most of the big ones are U. S. make. The U. S. government is using the Henry Ford to quite an extent. The French make of cars are very good ones, such as the Peugeot and Fiat. The railroads are very poorly equipped. They use freight cars for third class passenger service. It says on the outside of each one, 40 hommes or 8 cheveau, which means 40 men or 8 horses. These cars are regular side door Pullmans. They are divided into two compartments and provided with benches and straw for the men to be as comfortable as possible. The cars are about the same size as Robbins railroad and the engines are of a different shape than ours. They are about 30 years behind on them.

Orders just came to go ashore so will close and write you the next place we stop.

With love to all,

—W. S. S.—

The "hello girls" of the Rhinelander Telephone exchange enjoyed a supper at the Rhinelander Cafe Monday evening following their attendance at the Majestic.

Harry Annen, Wisconsin's heavy weight traveling man, spent Sunday with his brother, Fred Annen, in this city. Harry is one of the fastest and jolliest salesmen on the road and his customers and friends along his route always look forward to his visits with pleasure.

Judge A. H. Reid addressed a union meeting at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening, on "America's Part in This War." He was greeted by a large audience and presented the question in a most masterful way. Reverends Williams, Evans and Gould participated in the services and there was special music for the occasion.—Wausau Pilot.

A large number of young people enjoyed the hospitality of Miss Phoebe and Dennis Hergren Jr., at a party at the Hergren residence, 215 N. Brown street, Saturday evening. Music and dancing made the hours pass swiftly and the entertainment closed with a dainty lunch.

WRIT ISSUED IN SENATORIAL CASE

The Wisconsin supreme court Friday issued an alternative writ of mandamus on the petition of G. M. Sheldon, Tomahawk, requiring Gov. E. L. Philipp to show cause why he should not issue a call for a special election to elect a successor to the late Senator Paul O. Hustung.

The writ is returnable on March 5, when the court next sits. The petitioner must file a verified petition.

Associate Justice W. C. Owen did not participate in the consideration or in the order, because, while serving as attorney general, he refused to ask the supreme court for such a writ on the petition of Sheldon, holding that the governor could not be mandamus to perform an act which was clearly within his discretionary power.

Do Not Neglect Your Eyes

The eyes are too delicate organs to stand abuse or neglect, and care should be taken of them at all times. Eyestrain and refractive errors, if not attended to, are very apt to cause some form of bodily disorder which will not be so easy to overcome.

Have your eyes attended to—get a pair of glasses to correct your errors of refraction, relieve your eyestrain, headaches, and weary nerves—and enjoy that complete comfort which goes with a pair of properly fitted, properly adjusted glasses.

I can fit you out with the proper lenses for your eyes, in either spectacles or eyeglasses, rims or rimless, to suit each individual taste.

All work guaranteed.

NOT QUITE SO RIGID

It is stated that the new rules under which physicians are working in the examination of drafted men for the United States army are not quite so rigid as were the ones formerly employed. It is probable that a number who have been refused admission heretofore will now be admitted under the new ruling.

While it would be a splendid thing to have an army in the field the members of which were absolutely perfect in every respect, still it would seem that experience has proven that this is an impossible thing, and at the same time get the number of men that is wanted. It is a cinch that if a man can do a days work, he can do a days soldiering.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL

Sunday School at 10 o'clock. The adult classes meet at the same hour. Morning service at 11 o'clock. Subject: "The Present Life." Epworth League at 6:45 to be conducted by Mr. Everts. Evening service at 7:30. Topic: "Is God Within the Reach of Men?" Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30 at the parsonage.

You are cordially invited to attend these services. Did you ever stop to think that no man who goes to church can be a hypocrite long. Deep down in his heart he knows that he cannot sell God a gold brick. If originally he goes to church solely to make a good impression with his neighbors, and this is to be encouraged, eventually he will find that he is gradually being led to the right sort of life. It is easy to acquire the go to church habit. Try it one Sunday. When another Sabbath rolls around you will feel a pang of remorse if you don't go again. Get acquainted with your clergyman. You will find that he is not a bad sort. Talk to him. If you have any criticism to make don't talk about it on the outside, but tell him. He will meet you half way. None realizes more than he how hard it is to work up an interest in religious affairs among some people. Give him and his church a chance. Begin on Sunday first.

"REMEMBER THE TUSCANIA"

Governor E. L. Philipp has sent the following letter to all persons charged with the administration of the selective service law in Wisconsin:

"Men of Wisconsin! The tragic event of the past week prompts us all, I am sure, to make every sacrifice to complete at the earliest possible date the important military duty assigned to us.

"We will all go to our work with more determination to win, more willingness to sacrifice, and more forgetfulness of our private affairs.

"Let the cries of the Sammies on the western front inspire us in doing superbly and promptly our small bit to help them remember the Tuscania."

TAKE OFF MAIL CAR

The mail car on train No. 153 has been discontinued north of Eland and on No. 114 from Antigo to Eland. The car used to terminate its run here, mail for Rhinelander being carried from Antigo in the baggage car in closed pouches. Mail on these two trains will now be handled in closed pouches north of Eland. It is understood that the government is able to effect a considerable economy by shortening the run of the mail car.—Antigo Journal.

Prepared Meat Perfection

Of course, every butcher has a perfect right to brag about his sausage, bologna, chopped meat and other things of that sort. He knows very well what's in them, and the buyer doesn't.

We could tell you things about certain kinds of sausage, for instance, that'd fairly bark with interest.

CROSSMAN URGES SAVING OF FOOD

Food conservation was the chief topic of a patriotic address delivered by Hon. Charles S. Crossman of Philadelphia at the Armory Wednesday night.

Mr. Crossman, who is a speaker of ability, emphasized the importance of eliminating waste in food stuffs at this time and gave statistics showing the large amount of foods which have been saved by the American people within the last few months. His talk throughout was interesting and instructive. Among other things he gave vivid descriptions of army training camps which he has recently visited.

Mr. Crossman was introduced by Dist. Atty. A. J. O'Melia, who told briefly the remarkable results of the recent Thrift Stamp campaign here.

HATCHET CITY TEAM DEFEATED

The basket ball tossers from the Hatchet City had their colors lowered when they tackled the Rhineland high school five in the local gym Friday night. In a fast and thrilling exhibition the visitors received the shady side of a 6 to 11 score. The teams were well matched and played almost like clock work.

Bronson and Sorenson were the stars for the local highs and they did some very creditable basket shooting. A fair sized crowd witnessed the game and cheered the green and white to victory.

In the preliminary contest between the freshmen and the eighth grade teams the "Freshies" lost out 5 to 6.

LUTHERANS MAKE WAR FUND DRIVE

Campaign On Here This Week Said To Be Successful

Lutherans of Wisconsin will raise $75,000 of the $750,000 to be obtained by Lutheran churches of the United States for war work among the soldiers and sailors in the federal service. Rev. J. A. Sarnemo, pastor of the Norwegian Lutheran church, in this city, has been named chairman of the campaign in Oneida county, to which the sum of $450 has been allotted. The drive is being conducted this week and it is understood that the local committee is meeting with good success.

Three hundred ministers and laymen of the Lutheran churches of Wisconsin, at a conference held at Madison laid plans for raising $75,000.

For solicitation purposes the state was divided into counties, with a chairman for each. A chairman was appointed for each city and village, and groups of ten workers for each 200 members of every Lutheran congregation.

The money raised in this drive will be used for the benefit of members of the Lutheran faith who are helping Uncle Sam win this war.

NEW OPERA HOUSE FOR MINOCQUA

With the time rolling around for spring to put in its appearance comes the perennial rumors that Minocqua is to have the long waited for opera house. The need for such a place of amusement has long been felt but no movement that suggested reality has ever been launched.

At present there is renewed talk on the opera house question. With the erection of the Bassett Garage in the next block, it has been suggested by business men that the old garage site be made into a ground floor opera house. The movement is a good one and should be supported by business men of this locality.—Minocqua Times.

ROLLER COULDN'T SEE COMPANY L

George Roller, who has returned from the sulphite and paper makers' convention in New York City, made two unsuccessful attempts to visit the members of Company L at Camp Merritt. No visitors were allowed in the camp and even relatives of soldiers who came long distances were unable to secure admittance.

Despite the fact that George was turned down once he made a second trip to the camp only to meet with the same failure. He exercised all his bland diplomacy but, the officers in charge remained as unresponsive as a group of Chinese idols. To be so close to the home boys and yet be unable to see them was a bitter disappointment to him.

George says everything in little old New York is as brisk as ever and the town is actually growing. There are two blacksmith shops there now, a new cash and carry grocery and it is said that the postmaster is so busy that he doesn't have time to read the postal cards.

MINOCQUA RED CROSS IS BUSY

That the ladies of the Minocqua Red Cross are doing their share in providing for the comforts of the boys in Uncle Sam's service is evidenced by the fact that they have shipped several boxes of goods to the chapter in this city.

A WARNING TO FARMERS

Our duty to the Nation, as well as our duty to our customers, impels us to warn the farmers of this community of the danger of delay in placing orders for repairs they may need this spring for their farm machines, gas engines and tractors.

It is of the utmost importance that you examine your farm-operating equipment without delay and notify your dealer as soon as possible what parts you require to put the machines in workable condition.

Unless your dealer receives this information several weeks in advance of the using season, he will be unable to obtain the parts in time for your needs.

The manufacturers are short of material and labor and the traffic conditions are causing serious delays in transportation. More time than usual therefore is required to fill orders for both machines and repairs.

When you order repairs early you enable your dealer to order in large quantities, which can be transported by freight at a big saving of expense as compared with express or parcel post charges. Late ordering often necessitates telegraphing or telephoning. It is no exaggeration to say that many thousands of dollars are wasted in needless expense every year as the result of delay in making known repair needs.

This year the question of expense is not so important as the question of crop production, which may be seriously interfered with by delay in ordering repairs. All of the machines available for use this year will be needed to increase crop production to the extent required by the United States and its Allies.

So important is the question of repair supply, the implement dealers' National Federation, with the co-operation of the manufacturers, government officials and state agricultural colleges, has selected the week of March 4 as National Implement Inspection and Repair Week.

The United States Department of Agriculture, the state agricultural colleges and experiment stations and state councils of defense are rendering assistance in this movement because they recognize its tremendous importance under existing conditions.

Implement Inspection and Repair Week will mark the end of a big drive for repair orders for machines to be used in the preparation of the seed bed and in seeding spring sown crops. The farmer who does not make known his wants during that week or before will have only himself to blame if the parts he needs are not supplied in good season.

Examine your machines and make a list of broken parts.

Also list parts that are badly worn and likely to give out before their work is completed.

Take pains to give correct numbers of numbered parts and complete description of unnumbered parts.

Give the trade name or brand of machines. If in any case the brand and manufacturer's name have been obliterated, there is all the more reason for early ordering.

Place your orders at least three weeks before you expect to use the machines.

We pledge ourselves to spare no effort to obtain all needed repairs for farmers who will co-operate with us by making known their requirements in accordance with these suggestions.

SPUD SITUATION WORST IN YEARS

According to L. C. Corbett, horticulturist in charge of the horticultural and pomological investigations, bureau of plant industry, the potato situation at the present time is the worst it has been in years. He says that the psychological effect of the record breaking prices received by the growers for the potato crop last year seems to have convinced many that similar prices should be obtained for the 1917 crop. As a result it is believed that large quantities of potatoes are being held back for prices higher than the extent of the supply on hand justifies.

This statement is amply substantiated by the bureau of crop estimates' reports, in which it is shown that the amount of stock on hand on January 1, 1918, has only been exceeded on three former occasions, viz: 1909-10, 1912-13 and 1914-15. In each of these crop seasons mentioned the price of potatoes to the consumer on January 1 was very much lower than on January 1, 1918.

It also shows that the price received by the grower during April and May next following was extremely low. In fact, many localities during the spring of 1913 and 1915, following the heavy crop seasons of 1912 and 1914, large quantities were allowed to rot in the storage cellars or were hauled out and dumped on the land or into streams, simply because there was no market for them at any price. A part of this trouble was due to the fact that earlier in the season the grower was not willing to accept a reasonable price for his crop. It is believed that the same tendency to hold for higher prices than the extent of the crop justifies exists today. This belief is corroborated by the relative light movement of stock to market. For example, during the period elapsing between December 15, 1917, to January 15, 1918, the average daily carlot movement has been less than 225 cars.

This may all be true to a certain extent, but there are two other conditions that have had a tendency to curtail the amount of tubers shipped in this locality, and these are the excessively cold weather that has existed during the past two months without interruption, and a shortage of cars. There were very few days in December or January when a farmer would be justified in hauling potatoes any great distance, and there was hardly a time when the buyers did not discourage the bringing in of them, stating that it was impossible to obtain enough cars to handle any great quantity.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Jesus had many enemies. How did He treat them? How did He feel toward them? These are questions that are taken up in the Sunday morning sermon on "The Master's Magnanimity". It is the second of the series on "The Manhood of the Master." You will find it a subject worth considering in these days when our souls burn with indignation against German militarism and barbarity.

Patriotic song service Sunday evening at 7:30. The sermon will be the second in the series "The Men Who Crucified Jesus and Their Modern Representatives." Last Sunday we found that the Pharisees are not all dead. This coming Sunday evening we may find that there are multitudes who stand for just what the Roman soldiers stood for. Patriotic sermon "The Romans—Then and Now."

Sunday School at 10. Christian Endeavor at 6:45. Lenten prayer meetings Thursday evenings at 7:30. All are cordially invited.

BUSY REPAIRING WAGONS

Over seventy-five vehicles, mostly owned by Brown Brothers, are undergoing repairs and being painted at Ross & Benson's shop, 15 W. King street. This shop is widely known for its first class workmanship in this line. Business is received from not only this city but from throughout Oneida county and adjoining counties.

Mel Wentworth has charge of the paint department. He is skilled at his trade and although an exceptionally fast worker, is never able to get ahead of his job.

The young ladies employed at the Oneida Hotel will give a Washington's birthday party tomorrow night at Gilligan's hall. The Oneida Orchestra will furnish the music.
